

Clarissa Urbina, M.D.

Middle School Art

Dr. Clarissa Urbina grew up in Colombia and Mexico where her parents were missionaries. She attended the Universidad Nacional Autonoma de Mexico and graduated with a degree in Medicine.

She moved to the United States with her husband, Martin.

Since moving, Dr. Urbina has worked at Integris Baptist Medical Center in the Labor and Delivery Department spending summers and holidays helping newborns into the world.

Dr. Urbina and her husband are licensed ministers and pastors at Vida Victoriosa, a Spanish language church in Oklahoma City.

She started teaching ASTEC's Sixth Grade Explore Class in 2012 and loves finding interesting books, art projects, special days to celebrate, and famous people to share with her scholars.

The Urbina's have three children; two of which graduated from ASTEC.
